1 Category images should remain similar 768, size to fit, 2 columns now instead of 3. Instead of the user scrolling down, they will scroll across, but scrolling will have a beginning and an end. User can not keep scrolling and products will repeat themselves. The user will control scrolling, it will not be automatic rotation. See screenshot below for visual reference.

2 This should be presented as a secondary footer now that the left hand navigation is removed from this view, similar to 768 version, but resized for 640.

1 Left hand navigation will be removed from this template and category selection pulled to a drop down menu for quick access. I've pulled "Tell Us Your Story" from this version because I don't think a ton of people will want to type a story with their tablet or phone. Where To Buy and Buy Online still function the same.

2 Product images will need to be resized from the non-mobile presentation of the site.

3 Even though the "Buy Online At Mybrands" callout is not currently on the non-mobile version of the site I'm including it here to level out the page. We may pull it during the design process. Looking for suggestions from Weiman if they prefer to show other content in it's place.

4 I would like to change how the "Where to Buy" button functions. Currently it brings up modal pop-up, can we make it a link to the Where to Buy page? I think that will be easier to navigate from a phone.

1 Page should function just as it does on the current non-mobile version of the site. The text and images should be optimized for the resolution.

2 Weiman Online / My Brands graphic

3 Instead of the user scrolling down, they will scroll across, but scrolling will have a beginning and an end. User can not keep scrolling and products will repeat themselves. The user will control scrolling, it will not be automatic rotation. See screenshot below for visual reference.

1 Removed the left bar from this view and pushed it down as a secondary footer for the coupons template. All existing body content and imagery can remain the same but should be optimized for this resolution.

2 Instead of the user scrolling down, they will scroll across, but scrolling will have a beginning and an end. User can not keep scrolling and products will repeat themselves. The user will control scrolling, it will not be automatic rotation. See screenshot below for visual reference.

3 Need some design element in the Shop For Weiman header to pull shop online and WTB callouts together.

1 Removed the left bar from this view and pushed it down as part of the right side column below quick tips. Most quick tips are much shorter than the general tips content so this should conserve space and still keep coupons relatively high on the page and in view.

2 Note to designer: experiment with vertical and horizontal layout for Shop, Buy Now, Promos
