

The Carbon Medical CRMHatchet™ is the best crafted survival tool on the market. When your out in the great expanse of the wild world there is always one tool you can trust on to help you through the most important of tasks.

The CRMHatchet™ is equipped with a six inch long head piece of high carbon stainless steel alloy to withstand anything you put in its way. Also, attached to the head piece is a sharp under laid blade for shaving bark off of branches to make tinder for fire starting. A mallet is located upon the back side of the head piece for precise hammering. At the end of the handle is a small rectilinear hole to include placement for a wrist lasso so the you can better wield the product.

7.

Hatchet

C o n c e p t

CRMHatchet

Light Weight

Durable

Precise

