

Like Mother, Like Daughter

This is Kate & Nicole. Kate is a happily married fashion buyer from New York.

Together at weekends they might start off with some shopping, then catch a musical on Broadway and finish up with a milkshake.

On Sunday's Nicole's favorite hobby is to meet with her friends at the ice skating rink to hang out and talk.

Nicole loves the winter especially when it snows and everything takes a magical look. Like a scene from a Harry Potter book, which she adores.

Kate loves to take care of herself, she isn't afraid of designer price tags or trying new silhouettes, as long as she feels good about herself.

This, of course, trickles down to Nicole as she idolises her mother and only wishes to be as beautiful as she is and have as beautiful things as she does.

She often reads Teen Vogue, a magazine that is too mature for her but she loves to point out her favourite looks to her mum asking her opinion.
