

iReboot is a life orientation company. Our mission is to help our clients discover themselves, and in turn, their career leverage their passion and drive through a structured programme that includes a combination of intensive workshops, job simulations, internships, volunteerism, personal mentoring and counselling. Whether it's discovering a new hobby, choosing a career path while still in school, or a mid life career shift into something they have always wanted to do, iReboot will help structure it in a way that help you benefit from interacting with an exhaustive list of some of the finest mentors available.
