

HOW TO CREATE A FACE BURN

1 Use a cosmetic sponge to apply thin layers of liquid latex (a paintbrush comes in handy here). Make sure each layer dries before applying the next. You don't have to be precise because we want the outer edges to look messy.

2 For added texture, stipple a layer of liquid latex and sprinkle some dry oatmeal on top; this will look like the "skin" is peeling. Once this dries, use tweezers to poke holes through the liquid latex to roughen the surface texture.

3 To cover the eyebrow and nose, so that it appears as if they have melted off, apply thin layers of toilet paper and liquid latex on these areas while the latex is still wet. Repeat these steps as needed.

VAMPIRE MOUTH

TOOLS

Black eyeliner; bright and deep red lipsticks; fake blood (I used Stage Blood by Ben Nye); popsicle sticks; fangs (I used Scarecrow Vampire Fangs.)

STEPS

1. Outline your lips with black eyeliner and slightly fill them in, leaving the center of the lips bare. Fill the center with bright red lipstick, then go over that with a deep red lipstick. This will help achieve that ombre lip effect.

2. Using a popsicle stick, scoop out some fake blood and place it around the sides of the mouth. Tilt your face backward so the blood drips on its own. Use your finger to smudge the blood around and on your lips to look as though you just bit someone.

3. Don't forget those fake fangs! I bought mine on Amazon.com; the set came with instructions on how to mold the fangs to your teeth. Pop them on and you're ready to go!
