Take Comfort In Your Workspace

With the right furniture pieces and decorative accessories, it's possible to create an atmosphere that's both comfortable and functional. OfficeMax® offers a variety of furniture and design options to help enhance comfort and productivity at the office.

WORKING SMARTER

Sit Properly

Unless a chair is adjusted to fit a person's specific height, the ergonomic benefits aren't in full use. Your chair should be custom fitted in the following ways:

Pneumatic Seat Height Adjustment
Regulates height of chair relative to floor.

Tilt
The most common system, standard tilt positions the pivot directly above center of chair base.

Back Height Adjustment
Positions lumbar support within a fixed range.

Adjustable Arms
Allows users to lower or raise arms for forearm support and relief of neck and shoulder tension.

Straighten Up

Most employees can't work properly when surrounded by clutter. In fact, research shows most people spend up to two hours per day looking for stuff they've misplaced. To minimize distraction, use a vertical desktop file sorter to organize documents and keep them within eyesight. Or, try lateral filing cabinets to add storage and help reduce clutter.

Select Style

Adding style to your office space is a great way to bring focus and comfort. Transform bare walls with decorative artwork, cubicle extensions and fashionable accessories from officemaxsolutions.com. You can also enhance lighting by turning off overhead fluorescent lights and instead use floor and desk lamps.

OFFICE INPUT

You tell us...

How do you add comfort to your workspace?

- I have a custom-fitted backrest, quilted pillows, soft lighting and a decorative rug.
- I upgraded to an executive chair, complete with cushioned headrest!
- I put a plant on my desk.
- At work, coffee is my only comfort.

SAY WHAT?

Introducing you to the latest in office lingo, so you're never left speechless!

Word: productinate* [v.]

Definition: to put off an important task by performing a task of less priority.

Now, try productinate in a sentence!

I know the CEO's report is due tomorrow, but first I'll productinate and reorganize my whole office.
