Azure Grape Hyacinth

The bell-shaped flowers of these fragrant, bright blue charmers open more widely at the base than the traditional blue grape varieties for a fluffier look. Closed flower buds encircle the middle of the flower cone that is crowned by a smaller wreath of flowers. Hardy and carefree, these low-growing beauties easily spread into thick masses that make excellent ground covers. Plant anywhere in sun or shade for a striking effect that resembles Holland's best growing fields.

10 bulbs - $9.99 • 20 bulbs - $17.99
Zones: 4-9
Bulb Size: 5+ cm
Height: 6-8"
Bloom Time: Early to Mid Spring

Balloon Flower

A native of East Asia, this clump-forming herbaceous perennial is hard to beat for the cutting garden, borders, containers, and rock gardens. Blue flower buds puff up like balloons before opening, hence the name, then exhibit five-pointed lobes with bell-like shape. Remove spent flowers to prolong bloom period. Exceptionally long vase life.

Blue Sea Holly

All parts of this plant are highly ornamental. The intense, icy blue and gray flowers are striking with long, pointed bracts that radiate out beneath the flower heads. Hollylike foliage also has a blue hue, gray markings and blue stems. Dazzling in arrangements and borders. Attractive to butterflies, too. Given full sun and any well-drained soil, it will flourish for years, spreading 18-24”.

Carnegie Giant Hyacinths

These Dutch hyacinths will be the pride of your early- to mid-spring garden and a source of delight for all your senses. Garden-size bulbs are easy to grow and produce 8-10” stems covered with fragrant florets that will bring compliments galore! Dutch bulb experts have selected four glorious shades from the prize crops of Holland. Plant them near a window, and they will fill your home with heavenly fragrance. They’re excellent for cutting and one stem perfumes a whole room!

Oxeye

Fill your beds and vases with wild, golden beauty. This compact, upright perennial typically grows 3-4' tall. Single to double, daisylike flowers 2-3" in diameter have golden-yellow rays and deep orange centre disks. Stiff stems seldom need staking and make it a very good cut-flower addition. Noted for its lengthy summer to early fall bloom time and ability to thrive in poor soils—from dry to damp, partial shade to full sun.
