

Capital and Financial Markets Post-Crisis Developments

Law schools from the USA, Europe and Brazil present their latest research

May 27th

From 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Vanderbilt Law School, Tilburg Law School and DIREITO GV join efforts to analyze recent developments in capital and financial markets regulation and practice. By using an interdisciplinary approach drawing from law, finance and economics, the objective of the conference is to raise and debate current issues such as governmental efficiency, the relationship between IPOs and growth, credit ratings, executive remuneration and international shareholder say on pay, capital and financial markets litigation, insider trading and voting rights.

International professors meet top Brazilian scholars in a full day of comparative analysis that culminates with the launching of DIREITO GV's new Center for Law, Economics & Governance.

Keynote Speech by

Professor Aloisio Pessoa de Araujo (EPGE-FGV/ IMPA)

Organizers

Professors Érica Gorga (DIREITO GV), Randall Thomas (Vanderbilt Law School) and Joseph McCahery (Tilburg University Faculty of Law)
