Associate of Applied Science Degree

Accounting is a core program for any educational institution that is serious about business, and it's no different at National American University. The Associate of Applied Science degree in Accounting provides specialized education for various entry-level positions in the accounting profession. It's also designed for easy transfer into the bachelor's degree in accounting. As a graduate of this program, you can expect to find employment as an accounting technician, payroll clerk, bookkeeper, or clerical assistant in business, government or non-profit organizations. With experience, you may qualify for more advanced positions, such as payroll supervisors, lead accountants, or tax specialists.

National American University has received specialized accreditation for its business programs through the International Assembly for Collegiate Business Education (IACBE), located in Olathe, Kansas. Business programs in the following degrees that are accredited by the IACBE can be viewed on our IACBE Accreditation page.
