

Times, they are a changing...

New technologies are changing the way we work. Problems with focus and the need for privacy in modern “open plan” offices are affecting productivity and morale. If the way we work has changed, shouldn't our work environment change as well?