Carolina Herrera and Arielle Shapiro Collaboration - Pajama Capsule Collection

Carolina Herrera tapped fine lingerie designer, Arielle Shapiro, to collaborate on a pajama capsule collection. Evoking the effortless elegance and refinement synonymous with Carolina Herrera, the limited edition collection is comprised of three luxurious and tailored silk charmeuse pajama sets. A ribbon-trimmed empire waist chemise with back bow detail exudes femininity and provides a slender silhouette, while a camisole and side closure boy-short with silk drawstring tassels offer a sophisticated ease. The classic button-front pajama top and pant is enhanced by the hand stitched monogram embroidered chest pocket and satin collar and cuffs detailing. All pieces are trimmed with the Carolina Herrera's signature grosgrain ribbon detail and finished with silk covered buttons. The capsule has two color variations including a rich champagne with black and a deep navy with sun washed lavender. Created and made in New York, the three silhouettes will be exclusively available at Carolina Herrera Boutiques in November.

In the spirit of Carolina Herrera's fashion globally renowned fashion house, Arielle shares the unique appreciation for New York City and has established her atelier in the heart of the Garment District. After founding ARI DEIN in 2009, Arielle quickly grew her lingerie line and reputation of excellence in the luxury industry. She was subsequently selected to the prestigious Council of Fashion Designers of America's Fashion Incubator program.
