

Long regarded as one of the world's greatest getaways, Rosewood Little Dix Bay offers a level of refinement unrivaled in the Caribbean. An eco-tourism destination long before the term was ever coined, the exclusive resort, developed by conservationist Laurance Rockefeller over half a century ago, celebrates Virgin Gorda's untamed natural beauty. Within peaceful coves awash in crystal-clear waves, guests revel in seclusion. The resort's accommodations offer an iconic blend of relaxed luxury, while three open-air dining experiences present delicious locally sourced cuisine. Relaxation comes in the form of an award-winning cliff-side spa. Hiking trails, a tennis center and an array of watersports satisfy those inclined to active pursuits. From the gracious service of beach walkers proffering chilled fruit and cocktails to the fined-tuned efficiency of the resort's concierge staff, guests are treated to unobtrusive attentiveness and embraced with warm Caribbean hospitality.
