

Focus:

There is much to be said about physiological effects on your mood and senses. Harnessing warm elements and visual cues not only imply the function but will add a small amount of effectiveness with the user.