Notion of Disorientation

The project is to explore the body as the medium for action and to conceive of a device that would effectively convey the character of the scenario by expressing the body's 3 main postures in that scenario.

The Scenario

The scenario is taken at Chinatown where the two boys in white were separated from their tour group. Bring foreign to the environment, the two boys become anxious and the body posture become disoriented and uncomfortable as they try to find the tour group back. Luckily for them, they found their group mates through one of the openings and there is a sense of relief from them.
