Censoring of Workstation

Translation of diagram into module

Concept Development

The design started off by experimenting different ways of censoring the workstation. Places where it would cause visual disturbance or privacy issue will be covered up with panels or shelvings. The idea was translated to the cube design in the latter stage.