

STRENGTH TESTING

Took what worked and what didn't work with the skateboards from the blitz and developed test strips made with an array of woven patterns. Through this process, we gained knowledge on which patterns could ultimately lead to our final board.

