

Prototyping

These are my first concepts that I came up with, these are followed by countless testing and refining until the final model.

Paper Prototype

1. Create an account.
2. Create a profile.
3. Find a tour for a certain date.
4. Adjust the price range to $30 max.
5. Look at the details of the first tour on the list that is the best match for you.
6. Now look at the list of tour guides instead of tours and details of a guide.
7. Look at all the map where all the tours are located.
8. Pick a tour and look through the pictures.
9. Now look at the tour guide that is hosting the tour
10. Look at all the tours the guide is offering.
11. Send a message to the guide.
12. Book the tour
13. There was an error in your info, try again.
14. Now everything is good confirm your booking.
15. Log out of your account.
16. Log back in
17. Go to your account
18. Click on an upcoming tour

Findings

- The topics should be limited to Maximum three choices.
- There should be a definition appearing when hovering over the topics.
- The MAP Page should have a preview of the tours when clicked on.
- There should be a easier access to the home page.
- The pages need to be less busy.
- The list of tours doesn't need another preview before the tour info page.

- That app is meant to be simple and easy to use, there is too many options and functions you get confused what you are looking.
- The tours should have the option to be sorted out by (price , rating not topics)
- The tours can be shared with others not just you and the tour guide
