

I created this sketch model to see how it would feel if you placed the food inside from the top of the model instead of the bottom.

For this sketch model I wanted to see how the tray would work when hanging from a wall.

This sketch model was my first idea for the tray and I wanted to see how the dimensions would look in person.

With the ideation process I was able to lay down all the ideas I had in my head. I was able to improve the design with each sketch.
