

IDEATION

As I sketched I explored the possible locations where I could hide the tracking device. It needed to be in the most secure location possible so that thieves could not break it off. I ended up choosing inside the seat post.