

3. The swimming pool is going to be right next to the proposed pond expansion. Within the pond there will be a stone materials water sculpture. The third picture looks like a relaxing arbor pavilion, which would be a great idea to take a more permanent form over the existing solitary hammock. - Luke Zwolsman

4. Entrance sculptures/ statues are very important to me in that they set the landmark and create a feeling of stability and uniformity between the natural and the built. Sculptural Artistry is also one of my favorite art forms, preferably realistic and monumental. - P.J. Mene FR Bronze Plow

5. The front of the main house has a vegetable/ flower garden, which is centralized by a pergola. I feel as though the existing ideas are perfect and need not changed. These two pictures are a proposed wooden sculpture by Alexandra Harley and a living pergola planting like in Grounds For Sculpture, NJ.

1. Watercolor Artist. Dorothy Wendig Mcnamara. This painting depicts a dreamlike winter scene on a Farm with a fence. My concept hopes to retain its Bucks County Country aura. The second picture is an example of how family members and friends can enjoy a pony ride around a property. I plan to propose a new driveway alongside the designated pony ride area.

6. Marmol Radziner is an Architect who specializes in prefabricated houses that are smaller but are just as luxurious. This is the type of contemporary architecture that I plan to use for the proposed artists lofts within this property. This part of the property has a barn which is to be converted into another artists loft/ pony stable.

2. The Vegetable and Flower Garden would be located in the overgrown field and could possibly replace the whole area and transform it into a walkable area without stepping through thorns. This area would also be less forests and more open sun, right next to the pool area and tennis courts.

7. Philip Johnson is also an Architect who specializes in beautifully designed buildings. The first picture is of a collonade pavilion on top of a pond. The second is the Brick House on Philip Johnson's property in New Canaan, Connecticut.
