

California's San Francisco High Speed Rail

San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles international airports are predicting "unacceptable delays" and will need 90 new gates and five new runways just to accommodate trips between California's major metropolitan areas-with virtually no room to accommodate future expansion

to Los Angeles