

Benefits of the Forget Me Not wristband:

- A safety aspect. If they are out and about and forget where they are they can look at the wristband letting them know where they are.
- A sense that they still have their independence.
- Not feeling like a nuisance to their family by relying on them to answer their questions.
- Better communication between the families as they can check up from anywhere.
- Interactive as the person with the dementia personally uploads their own images and memories so that it is personal to them.
- Can help with their day to day life and becomes part of their routine helping when the dementia progresses.
- Still play an important role in society.

The Good Life.
