

SAVE THE RAIN FOREST

Where will they go? The Rain Forests of Brazil are slowly becoming extinct. With the advent of commercialism and industrialization of the country comes the trade off of the earth's best natural resource, nature. Not only do we destroy the homes of the Rain Forest's creatures, we lose precious species of animals and plant life including man's number one necessity in life, oxygen. This occurs as a result of hacking down trees in order to build power plants. Shall we continue to sacrifice the future of all living creatures for the financial gain of industry? Get involved. Contact Rain Forest International, PO Box 511, New York, NY 10001.