

THE OPPORTUNITY

WATERBORNE ILLNESS

In January, 2010 after the earthquake in Haiti, half a million people became ill from the waterborne disease Cholera and 7,000 people died.

GROUP PROJECT

A cross-disciplinary team designed a jacket that could be worn as a survival kit for those suffering from a disaster or emergency. My role within the group was to design a water filtration unit as part of the kit.

