

TONIGHT I'LL FORGET

about the lab quiz I bombed on Thursday. Cage the Elephant's new album on repeat while driving in the Subaru I bought off Craigslist.

My anthem: best friends, Friday nights, freedom after another long and hectic week.

Right now I couldn't care less that I was a little late to first hour.

I won't do my homework until Sunday night when I try, once again to watch 45 minutes of "Walking Dead" in 10.

We're ambitious, but we can also be lazy. We're excited, as well as hesitant, unsure. We're both proud and humble.

Golden hour hits CAPTAIN STEVEN GOLBY '12, as he and the rest of the cross country team embrace the warm weather at the Warrior Invitational. "[The Warrior Invitational] is very exciting because it is the first of the year, a fun course, and it is in our backyard. We are a band of brothers that will do anything to help the group or the individual. It has been a highlight because it has connected me to a great community and to something I am passionate about," Goldy said. Photo by F. Fyles.
