

BACKGROUND

ISABELLA COMMUNITY GARDEN

The Isabella Street Community Garden is located in the Little Italy district of Syracuse, NY.

OBJECTIVE

As design students from Syracuse University, we were asked to find ways to improve the gardening experience and infrastructure.

THE GARDENERS

The garden was constructed as a resource for recently relocated refugees to the area. Many of the refugees were from Bhutan, Burundi, Cambodia and Uzbekistan.

The garden provided a food source of fresh produce, an activity to participate in and a community to belong to.
