

Monster.

We haven't got green fur or four-inch fangs, and we won't devour your children. The truth is far less exciting.

We're normal people who just happen to have a disability.

So why are we still prevented from going to so many places?

Shops, nightclubs, polling stations, ice rinks, restaurants...

There's always someone who won't let us in. And if that someone happens to be you, ask yourself:

Who's the monster?
