Design For Living!

'Listening, listening, listening.' RAO Design Studio, Inc. is intent on ensuring a comfortable and satisfying experience, be it a kitchen, bath, office, entertainment room or closet. Matthew meets initially with all parties and users of the kitchen or other space being designed. He carefully absorbs client programmatic requirements, assesses current and future needs and collaborates with clients to focus the overall design intentions with careful consideration of every detail.

"Going in like a dream." RAO's twenty year proven design and production process allows for smooth ordering, delivery, receipt, installation and construction of the finished product. Matthew and his project manager, Jane Nations, work seamlessly with vendors and professionals long associated with the firm as well as with contractors and crafts people requested by clients. The RAO approach has resulted in numerous award winning kitchens and clients who are often as happy with the construction process as they are with the design work.
