

BIKE TRIP COMPUTER AND LIGHT

Bike computers tend to be very small and difficult to read while in traffic. The concept behind this computer-light combination was to enlarge the visual interface to the size of a common smartphone and provide a mount for placement in a useful location off of the handlebar.

