

Autodidacts have a love affair with learning and sharing with family and friends, knowledge that is new and useful; what improves the human condition.

Autodidacts never get to their destination on this journey, they never complete their educational goals. There's always a new project, or tool to learn and utilize. The constant researching and lifelong learning never ends, if you're doing it right. I am an autodidact.

To be a true Design Engineer, a combination of accredited degrees in mechanical engineering, architecture, and industrial design both product and transportation, even aeronautical engineering are necessary. In my opinion, this is the only full training that qualifies you to be a Design Engineer.

With that said, I AM NOT a design engineer. I am only an enthusiast of those professionals who truly have the credentials, and practice their trade as though it is the key to true religion. A silent, accomplished rare few.

Add the study of lethal marshal arts to include: Kendo, To-Shin Do, Aikido, Krav Maga, Keysi Fighting Method, Mastro Defence System, and have a working knowledge of all martial arts, and also incorporate meditation, Stoicism, health restoration yoga, and methods for survival in hostile environments-- and you transcend Design Engineer-- to become a PRIEST of CREATION...

I write science fiction stories about one particular Priest of Creation.--
Dr. Gordon Marcus Aurelius Parks. AN AEROSPACE INDUSTRIALIST.
He is one of those unsung, invisible American patriot aerospace career professionals working 'in the black' on paradigm-changing, exotic technologies for covert government-run Special Access Programs (SAPs) and Unacknowledged SAPs (USAPs).

Real-world U.S. government military aerospace engineers are the most interesting character archetypes to create stories about, while attempting to DISCLOSE the TRUTH as Science Fiction.

'OffWorld Man Anthology: The Ultimate Collection' comprises seven DISCLOSURE science fiction novellas and short stories, including two standalones, 'A Finely Tuned Spiritual Being' and 'No Nuclear War' -- an epic 1413 pages.

The storyline would make a really good Film franchise!

The OffWorld Man Anthology is set in the years 2032 to 2129. It chronicles a maverick aerospace industrialist, Dr. Gordon Marcus Aurelius Parks. He works tirelessly, over a 100-year period, to build the future of humanity.

A new standalone graphic novella titled '2150' continues the saga of the OffWorld Man Anthology series-- The final ninth standalone novella titled 'Immortal Man' is in the research and draft stage. It will close out the 200-year story line of the channeled OMA series.
