

mifold One

These are the final renders of the product. The number of new parts that needed to be created was two. The triangular pattern was to reflect the current version that mifold have.

