

Above, right: Sterling offered custom-built motorhomes and campervans, designed according to the client's brief. As part of this programme I created many custom layouts and visualisations for presentation, often to tight deadlines.

Left: Teaser images and promotional media (still shots and animations) that I created for Sterling. I was often tasked with devising the concept for the shots, modelling various components (subD in Blender) and producing final renders (Cycles in Blender and Photoshop).

