It's time for Fact Friday and we have a Pterrific fact for you! Did you know that even though Pteranodon lived during the same time periods as dinosaurs, they're not actually dinosaurs? Pteranodon is instead part of a group of animals called Pterosaurs, which translates to "winged lizards." Tag a friend to teach them this key difference! #FactFriday #TREXCafe #DisneySprings

Saturday and Sunday rely on guest interaction. Posts should essentially repost text and images guests send in, and should be tag the guest. Relevant hashtags should be used, such as #GuestSpotlight, #TREXTales, #TREXCafe, #DisneySprings

Saturdays and Sundays are low engagement days for Twitter. Content can be created for it, or other Tweets can be retweeted for supplementary content. The other weekdays will also include retweeted posts, but spamming followers (anything more than 3 posts in 24hrs) accustomed to one post per day is inadvisable.

Saturday does see a small spike in activity, so in the event an original post is wanted, I've created a meme that will attract attention among our Twitter followers, otherwise it can be used later. (12pm) (example of meme)

Felt cute, might delete later, IDK
