Shipyard

Ephemeral Environments
Why and how?

A webinar from Shipyard

Thinking about moving from long-lived to ephemeral environments in your pre-production workflow? Register now to attend our upcoming webinar on Wednesday, March 2nd at 2pm EST.
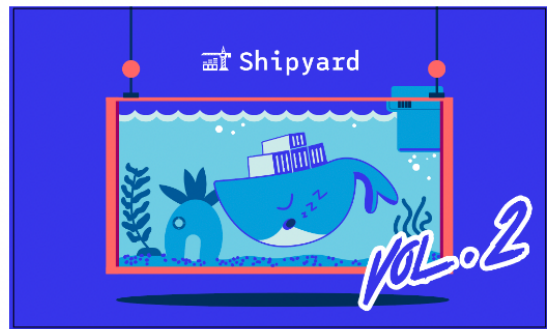

Register Now

Featured Blogs

How To Simulate A DockerHub Outage To Test Image Caching

Never worry about a DockerHub outage again: Shipyard now supports pull-through image caching! Read on to find out how...

Setting Up A Docker Registry As Pull Through Cache

One of Shipyard's talented engineers explains how he implemented multiple registries to get caching working, he really loves testing, his triple check moves are an inspiration to the entire team!

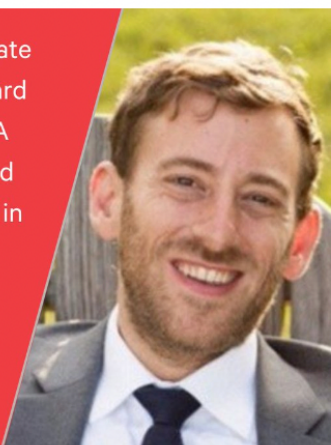

Featured Podcast

> Ultimately, we're building the ultimate DevOps tool. And so we use Shipyard to run Shipyard. We use it in our QA process. We use it in our end-to-end testing process. And we also use it in our production process as well.

Benjie De Groot
Founder and CEO of Shipyard

GIANT ROBOTS SMASHING INTO OTHER GIANT ROBOTS PODCAST

Our CEO Benjie De Groot was recently interviewed during the podcast 'Giant Robots Smashing Into Other Giant Robots'.

Benjie talks about how Shipyard got it's start, defining who their key audience would be, and the benefits of software teams utilizing Ephemeral Environments

---

Free 30-day trial now available

You can now try out Shipyard for 30 days free, no credit card required.

Try Shipyard for Free

Ephemeral Environments

EphemeralEnvironments.io is a resource for developers, product, and QA teams who build cloud products. This information is sourced from interviews with DevOps practitioners and members from large organizations who use ephemeral environments to optimize their workflow.